Dear parents,

News from the classroom

In Class R, the children have been learning about Remembrance Day and how the soldiers helped our country. Their classroom has an array of 2D and 3D poppies made from a variety of material.

In Class 2, the children have been off to the woods (in the rain) as part of their science and geography topic weather and the seasons. The children had to use their observational skills and past experience to describe how the trees and plants are changing. They thoroughly enjoyed exploring and came back to school looking like mud monsters!

In Class 3, the children have started their new novel Stig of the Dump. They too ended up in the woods, creating Stig's home out of sticks and making his bed out of bracken. In science the children have been looking at reflective material and designed their very own ruck sack.

Finally, in Class 4, the children have been learning to write letters of complaint! If you need a complaint letter, these are the pupils to see. The first letter was on behalf of an African child objecting to the South African Apartheid. Mrs Gibbins was extremely proud of all the pupils in the effort they took to write and edit their letters. Well done Class 4!

Have a lovely weekend.
